WOMAN SHOOTS MAN IN STREET

Fires Five Bullets Into Him as Crowd Looks On.

SHE SAYS HE SLEW HUSBAND

Italian Woman, Seeking Vengeance, Waylays Italian, Who, She Says, Stabbed Her Husband to Death, and Shoots Him Down.

New York, June 29.—While several thousand girls and women were on their way to work in the west side lofty buildings there was a shooting in the thick of the hurrying crowd at Spring and Sullivan streets.

With five bullets, all of which entered his body, Mrs. Louisa La Bartia, a widow, twenty-five years old, of 113 West Houston street, shot Dominico Versagia, nineteen years old, of 71 Sullivan street.

No one in the crowd was hurt, but the girls and women, screaming, fled into doorways, while Morris Becker sprang upon the woman and disarmed her.

Versagia was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where he died.

Black Hander, She Said.

Mrs. La Bartia declared that her victim was a Black Hander, and that he had stabbed her husband to death in the hallway of their home last June. She said she had tried for a year to get Versagia punished, but all her efforts had been in vain, so she decided to take vengeance upon the Italian with her own hand. She was locked up.

The police records showed that on June 21, 1908, Bruno La Bartia was found lying at Varick and Dowling streets with a long knife in his heart. The man was identified, but no clew was obtained as to his taking off.

Mrs. La Bartia took her stand at Spring and Sullivan streets half an hour before the time for Versagia to pass there on his way to work, and had her revolver under her apron.

As the man approached he recognized her, Mrs. La Bartia declared, and reached back as though to pull a revolver from his hip pocket. She fired instantly, and the bullet struck him in the abdomen. He turned and she fired again, this bullet entering his side. A third shot struck him in the back, a fourth in the face, as he fell convulsively to the ground, and the fifth entered his left hand.

The woman was in the act of pulling the trigger the sixth time when Morris Becker disarmed her.

The Woman's Story.

Mrs. La Bartia told the police that her husband was waylaid in a hallway and killed by a Black Hand agent just a year ago Sunday. She said she did not know who killed him until last April, just after her twenty-two-months-old baby died. This was the sixth child she had buried, she said.

Mrs. La Bartia is a handsome young woman, with jet black hair and flashing black eyes.

"Well, I'm glad I shot him," she said through an interpreter. "I'll be sorry if he doesn't die."

Later, when told that Versagia was dead, her eyes flashed and she drew herself up proudly.

Boston, June 29.—The third annual sociological conference established by George W. Coleman, of the Christian Endeavor World, began today at Sagamore Beach. The conference, which will last three days, has called together a large number of social workers, who will discuss such subjects as "The Social Progress of the Past Year," "The Whole World's Social Unrest," "The Negro In a Democracy," "How Industrial Education Will Bring Social Reconstruction" and "The Cost of Crowding Women Workers."

The speakers include Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of the Free synagogue, New York; William T. Ellis, the Philadelphia journalist; Robert A. Woods, of South End House, Boston; Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, and Ray Stannard Baker, the writer.

Big Snake Killed by Train.

Williamsport, Pa., June 29—The biggest snake ever seen in this section outside of a cage was cut into three pieces by a train at Utceter. It was of the black species. The pieces were placed end to end and the snake measured 14 feet, 7 inches. One day last week trackmen saw the reptile going through a hay field, its head raised two feet above the grass.

A STRANGE CO-INCIDENCE.

Comrades of the Civil War Re-united by Letter.

We are in receipt of the following letters from our friend Col. Austin Curtin, of Curtin, Pa., which we think will interest many of our readers. They are as follows:

Curtin, Centre Co., Pa.,
June 24th, 1909.

Mr. E. C. Tuten,
Editor and Proprietor
"Daily News,"

DEAR SIR:

I enclose you a copy of a letter I received a few days ago from far off California, and from an old comrade whom I had not heard of since the days of the close of the War, he found me out in a curious way, the letter explains itself, I have answered him in full telling him I am the very man who met him in those days, he was an officer in Wisconsin Regiment who was with us during the Wilderness Campaign, in 1864. The horse belonged to an Officer in a Michigan Regiment who was either killed or badly wounded and had no more use for the horse so some of his Regiment sold him to me, it was certainly a splendid animal.

Truly Yours,
AUSTIN CURTIN.
June 4th 1909.

Austin Curtin,

DEAR COMRADE:-

In reading your article on Lincoln in The Advocate of May 27th, when I came to the signature it seemed so familiar that I venture to write to ask if in The Wilderness Campaign in 1864 you were not Acting Division Quarter Master, and if about the middle of May you did not sell me a fine bay horse for $220 00, whose owner had been killed or wounded in the Wilderness? One of the best horses I ever knew.

If so, within 60 days of the time I paid you I was sent back to Philadelphia to die, and turned the horse over to the Acting Adjt., who rode him to Fort Hell, where he tied him among sharp little stubs. The horse, becoming frightened at the shells, got fast on one of them, and killed himself. I, however, recovered, returned to the Army and was a part of Terry's Fort Fisher Exhibition, and was mustered out as Capt., about Christmas in 1865.

Went to Wisconsin an invalid, but have preached in its cities for 25 years, in South Dakota 14 as pastor and Mission Supt., and am now, on account of an invalid daughter, in California. In better health than when we met in that horse deal of the 60's.

Fraternally,
E. E. CLOUGH.

The Fourth at Hecla Park.

No public demonstration of any kind having been provided for the Fifth of July at either Bellefonte or Lock Haven, the Hecla Park management in conjunction with the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. will provide refreshment and entertainment at Hecla during the afternoon and evening. Secretary Weston of the Y. M. C. A. is to have charge of the restaurant and ice cream privileges and look after the sports such as a marathon and other running and swimming races. The Central Penn'a. League Ball game sceduled for the afternoon at Bellefonte has been transferred to the Park. Christy Smith will be there with a full orchestra for dancing and a concert. Mr. John Sourbeck will have supervision over the fire works display, and the friends of the Park, which never was more attractive than now, may count on an enjoyable afternoon and evening at this delightful resort.

While the Park will be open to the public all day it is the intention to not commence the festivities of the occasion until noon.

Meeting of Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

The directors of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Centre county met at Bellefonte on Monday. All the members of the board were present.

Applications amounting to $211,171 were accepted, the premium notes of which aggregated to $18,566 and the cash premiums to $905.

The loss by lighting of the Bailey barn, near Pine Grove Mills, was adjusted and ordered to be paid. The barn, wagon shed and corn crib was a total loss, being insured for $1200. The contents of the barn being a partial loss and was adjusted at $412.50; total loss $1612.50. This barn had a metal roof but no lighting rods and no ground connection. The fire started at one corner at the eaves of the barn and no doubt if there had been ground connections at each corner fire would not have ensued.

TYPHOID MARY WANTS LIBERTY

Woman Said to Breed Typhus Germs Gets Out Writ.

ISOLATED FOR TWO YEARS

Experts Say She Is the Most Remarkable of the Fever Bacilli Carriers In Country and Will Have to Remain a Prisoner All Her Life Unless Court Frees Her.

New York, June 30.—After being kept a prisoner in quarantine on North Brother island for two years, though not committed by a court, Mary Mallon, a cook, was produced before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich on a writ of habeas corpus in the hope of regaining her liberty.

The woman, who is known to the health department as Typhoid Mary, declared through her lawyer that she was illegally deprived of her liberty.

In opposing her application the health department alleged that Mary had become a menace to every person with whom she came in contact, as, while herself immune, she had the power of communicating typhoid fever to others, involuntarily, however.

The cook stated that she had been treated on North Brother island like a leper and had been compelled to occupy a house by herself, her only companion being a dog.

Dr. William H. Parks, of the health department, says that Mary is one of more than two score persons in this country who are known as typhus bacilli carriers and that her case is the most remarkable of all.

The germs are supposed to lodge in the gall bladder and to be carried from there by the bile. Meanwhile new germs are taking the place of those that are carried away.

The expert declares that every effort has been made to cure Mary, who is a remarkably healthy looking woman, but, according to Dr. Parks, without avail. He believes that, unless the court orders otherwise, she will have to remain on North Brother island all her life.

"UNWRITTEN LAW" WINS

Chicago Jury Acquits Man Who Killed Sister's Betrayer.

Chicago, June 30.—The "unwritten law" was sustained by a jury in Judge Kersten's court which freed Michael Pacellano, charged with the murder of Frank Sereno, as a result, it is alleged, of the latter's betrayal of Pacellano's sister.

In his address to the jury Attorney Erbstein confined his remarks almost entirely to an exposition of the "unwritten law." It is said that this is the first time that this plea has proved successful in Chicago.

COLLEGE CRITICISM

A Yale Alumnus Upon Recent Writings and Sayings.

New Haven, June 30.—At the Yale alumni meeting here, Rev. Edward M. Chapman, Yale '84, a clergyman from Lyme, Conn., said: "We are not disturbed by magazine articles aimed at the Rock of Ages. The magazine editors may rave and Bishop McFaul may imagine a vain thing. I am reminded in this connection of the man who said, 'I have a weak voice, and unless I say disagreeable things no one will pay attention to me'"

Whisky Kills Five-Year-Old Boy.

Reading, Pa., June 30.—While his mother thought he was playing in the yard, five-year-old Matthew Amorosa, son of Dennis Amorosa, of this city, explored the contents of a closet, in which he found a bottle of whisky. The little fellow drank the liquor and in a short time became ill. He opened a window in the rear of the house and fell out, landing on his head and fracturing his skull. He died before a hospital was reached.

York, Pa., June 30.—Although she is eighty-three years old, Mrs. Emanuel Gentzler, of York New Salem, put on her work clothes and assisted in harvesting rye on the farm of her son-in-law, Amos Shive. She helped to cut and bind the rye and afterward to shock it.

Asylum Inmate Kills Herself.

Lancaster, Pa., June 30.—Catharine Bingaman, of Lincoln, an inmate of the county asylum, was found dead hanging to the grating of her room window. She made a rope from the sheet of her bed.

BELLEFONTE BREAKS EVEN.

Lock Haven Captures one Game Bellefonte the Other.

In a double header at the Hughes Athletic Field Friday afternoon Bellefonte and Lock Haven split even, the latter taking the first game and the former the second game in the series for the Championship of the Central Pennsylvania League. They were good games both of them and some mighty classy base ball was played by both teams. The line-up was as follows:

PICK-UPS.

But for a little hard luck in one inning we would have taken both.

One sure thing; our team are not quitters, the longer they go the better they get.

Kelchline's catch of a long fly in the second game was sure some class.

If any catcher in the League has any thing on Quirk, we'd like to see it.

Only two hits off Maritz and six strikes out is going some.

O'Reilly certainly takes care of everything that comes near third.

Otto's three bagger right off the reel, was a little hard on Rich.

The Lock Haven bunch seemed to be afraid of Joe's whip, at least you couldent find them guilty of Larceny.

The hundred and twenty-five spectators at the game were all satisfied, but why was the crowd not three times as large.

You can't get them too high for Jacobs at short, and then his two-bagger helped some.

Mrs Martha Cameron Dead.

Mrs. Martha Cameron, widow of the late Rev. Thomas Cameron, for many a resident of Philipsburg, died Sunday morning about 10 o'clock at her home at Orvis, aged a little over 69 years, the result of a complication of diseases with which she had long been ailing.

The deceased was a daughter of Perry John Lucas, who fought on Lake Erie with Commodore Perry. She was the youngest of several children, and the last of the family. For many years she had been a devoted member of the United Brethren church, with which denomination her husband, who died about seven years ago, had been connected as a minister. She was a lady whose many endearing qualities won for her many friends.

Surviving her are one daughter and four sons, viz: Mrs. William Farrell, Philipsburg; Andrew, residing in Wyoming; Harry, of South Philipsburg, and Ralph and Newton, of Orvis.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon. Interment was made at Philipsburg.

To Enter Service of P.R.R.

Paul M. Etters, son of County Supt. and Mrs. D. O. Etters, of State College, who last week graduated from the Pennsylvania State College in electrical engineering, will on the first of July leave for Philadelphia, where he expects to report to the Chief Signal Engineer of the P. R. R. at the Broad Street station, and to become an apprentice in the signal department of the Pennsylvania Railroad system. Paul's many friends in Bellefonte are confident he will make good in any position he may be called to fill, and extend best wishes for his continued success in his chosen work.

MRS. WOODILL LOVED EASTMAN

Letter Signed "Edith" Indicates Feelings Toward Slayer.

SENTIMENTAL NOTE FOUND

"Every Heart Beat Cries Out Against the Enormous Crime That Makes Me No Longer Yours"—Hated Existence Away From Him.

St. Michaels, Md., June 30. — The feelings entertained by Mrs. Edith May Woodill towards her slayer, "Lame Bob" Eastman, were indicated in a letter signed "Edith," parts of which were found in the bungalow of the murderer and suicide last Saturday. The missive, which is in Mrs. Woodill's handwriting, and couched in most sentimental language, was presumably sent to Eastman. It not only indicates a warm attachment for the man, but seems to prove that she had known him at least a year. On the same paper in Eastman's handwriting is the following:

Eastman's Postscript.

"Little Dear—I cannot live after our short ——— of bliss.

"With the coming of you and parting ever before me. If we meet in the unknown let's continue the blissful times that we spent here. I am with you in every thought."

The letter signed Edith contains the following passages:

"Is the iron immodest when it creeps through the loadstone and clings to its side? Is the seed immodest when it sinks into the ground with budding life? Is the cloud bold when it softens into rain, and falls to earth because it has no other choice, or is it brazen when it nestles on the bosom of heaven's arched dome and sinking into the blue-black infinity ceases to be itself?

"Is the human soul immodest when drawn by a force it cannot resist it seeks a stronger soul which absorbs its ego as the blue sky absorbs a floating cloud and as the warm earth swells the sea, as the magnet draws the iron?

"I do not feel myself to be bold or wrong or 'in myself' for drifting toward you as I do. I would not feel myself wrong to go straight to you tomorrow.

"There is ever and always some human soul to love and trust us. And whose confidence we would not alter. We are not of our own making and our lives belong to another, Brahma, who rules and is wise.

"As one who was unconcerned and in every line of it, and I read only the same adoration that a year's absence would not shadow.

Could Not Understand.

"And the wonder comes to me that you did not, could not, understand. Surely such a life as yours brings to me understanding; you must know lewd from the modest, the untrue from the true.

"Dream of you, did I say? Long for you would be better, for every heart beat seems to cry out against the enormity of the crime that makes me no longer yours. All the best in everything seems only to exist because of your, and for you.

"I hate existence away from you. Why do men dare to lift up their voices against the blessed art in others, which is but a greater, stronger, warmer spark of God's soul that they possess or can lessen the understanding we have one for the other and no difference can make us forget?

"Remember me always, as you loved me best, and, though were you a—a bandit—a—anything—my heart would beat in responsiveness to yours.

"Thine but asks instead 'wilt thou be mine?' Loved by time one has grown to know its significance, has usury been made a degenerate thing. That is hard to recognize."

WILL STOP POLLUTION.

Fish Commissioner Meehan Inaugerates "Clean Stream Campaign."

Through co-operation with heads of tanneries, saw mills, gas plants, chemical works and such establishments that are in the habit of converting the state's streams into sewers, William E. Meehan, state fish commissioner, has succeeded in stopping stream pollution in a half dozen counties and has made a big advance in the movement to keep the running water pure.

This has been accomplished without a suit. Agreements have been reached between the commissioner and the proprietors of the offending plants, and in many instances Mr. Meehan has been promised the future aid of the men with whom he has dealt in furthering the "clean stream campaign."

Extensive powers are placed in the hands of the Department of Fisheries by the new state fish law with regard to this practice of dumping harmful substances into the streams. It prohibits "any deleterious or poisonous substances of any kind or character to be turned into or allowed to run, flow, or wash or to be emptied into any of the waters" within the boundaries of the state. This penalty is $100 fine for each offense, with a prison alternative.

Thus armed, Commissioner Meehan has stopped between sixty and seventy saw mills, fifteen chemical plants and thirty other industrial establishments from emptying refuse into streams.

"By the end of the year," said Commissioner Meehan," the pollution will be almost wholly cleared up in Warren, Chester, Montgomery, McKean and Clarion counties."

Many of the tannery men are now working on the filtration schemes. Mr. Meehan explained by which they can purify the drainage from their plants before allowing it to flow into the streams. Perhaps a fourth of all the tanneries in Pennsylvania will have installed such plants before fall.

"Although a certain amount of success has been achieved," said Commissioner Meehan, "much remains to be done. Chemical works, paper making plants and gas houses are doing noticeable damage to fish by draining into the waters sulphuric acid caustic soda and their components as well as oil and the refuse gas.

Counties suffering most from pollution now are Westmoreland, Potter, Clinton and Tioga, and others in the coal region. Some of the creeks and rivers that have been cleaned out through the persistence of the department are the Broken Straw creek, Tionesta creek, Brandywine creek and the upper Allegheny river.

The Department of Fisheries and the Department of Health, under Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, are working jointly to put an end to the water pollution.

Two Barns Burned.

A fire of mysterious origin destroyed the barns of Henry Grimm and W. W. Smith at State College. The fire started in the Grimm barn, occupied by Sheasly, Gentzel, and 15 minutes prior to its outbreak, their driver, Thomas Decker had put the horse in the stable and did not detect any signs of fire or anything of a suspicious nature, yet within 20 minutes the barn was a seething mass of flames from top to bottom.

Messrs. Sheasly, Gentzel and Smith succeeded in saving their horses and vehicles, The fire was of mysterious origin and indications point to incendiarism. Neither party carried insurance on the buildings, although they at first supposed the policies covered the barns.

The members of the fire company worked liked beavers to subdue the flames. The heat was so intence that had the wind varied a trifle the fire laddies would have had their hands full, as all the adjoinings, buildings but one, were frame.—State College Times.

Prof. J. Price Jackson Honored.

At the recent convention of the Engineering Society of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, John Price Jackson, dean of the school of engineering, the Pennsylvania State college, was elected chairman. The college had an exhibit, which attracted considerable attention, especially among engineers. The value of these exhibits cannot be measured by the dollars and cents expended in their preparation, for it will return fourfold. The interest created in the department of engineering by these exhibits will more than offset the expenditure in advertising the school.

Penn State has one of the best engineering departments in the country. Its graduates are numbered among the skilled men all over the globe who hold responsible and high positions.

CONFESSES LEON STRANGLED ELSIE

Chung Sin Breaks Down Under "Third Degree."

TELLS HOW GIRL WAS SLAIN

Peered Through Transom and Saw Victim Lying on the Bed, With a Bloody Towel Over Her Mouth. Says Leon Said She Bit Her Tongue and Bled to Death.

New York, June 28.—Baited and intimidated by detectives, threatened with prosecution and confused with rapid-fire questions, Chung Sin, one-time roommate of Leon Ling, told of Elsie Sigel's murder. Under the terrific pressure of the "third degree" the little Chinaman admitted that he had seen the body in Leon Ling's room, that he had touched it while it was still warm, that he had smelled drugs and had watched Leon Ling's preparations for placing the body in the trunk where it was found horribly decomposed last Friday night.

Chung Sin in fact described almost everything concerning the murder of Major General Franz Sigel's granddaughter, except the actual commission of the crime. He denied any implication in it and protested stoutly that he was ignorant of the whereabouts of Leon Ling, the supposed murderer. After the inquisition he was held in $10,000 bail in the house of detention to await the inquest.

Chung Sin was arrested at West Galway, N. Y., a small hamlet near Amsterdam, and was brought to New York. Immediately after his arrest up state and all during the trip by train to this city he was plied with questions, bullied, persuaded and entangled in a mass of significant questions. He was told that Leon Ling had been captured and had laid the blame upon his (Chung Sin's) shoulders. This, together with the persistent hammering at the prisoner, brought the confession.

Girl Was Drugged and Strangled.

From the man's story it is apparent that Elsie Sigel first was drugged with chloroform and then choked to death. She was killed apparently on the night of June 9, although Chung Sin appeared a little mixed in his dates. But he says that early in the morning of June 10 he heard a strange noise in Leon's room, adjoining his, and, looking over the transom, saw the girl lying on the bed, with a bloody towel over her mouth. He passed through the room, he says, to go out to wash his hands, and as he did so felt of the body, which was still warm. After that he went down to the chop suey restaurant below, then returned to the room. Leon in the meantime had covered the body with a blanket up to the chin and had pulled a trunk to the middle of the floor. The trunk Leon was calmly emptying preparatory to placing the body therein. The rope with which the body was bound was lying on the floor at the time, according to Chung Sin. Once again he went down stairs, said Chung Sin, where he remained until Leon called him. When he entered the room the body was not visible, having been bound with the rope and placed in the trunk.

At this point of the story the Chinaman was asked savagely if he had not assisted his pal in putting the body in the trunk. Chung Sin started perceptibly, but said that he had no hand in it.

Leon Said She Bled to Death.

"I didn't see her no more," said Chung Sin, "and when I asked Leon how she died he said she had bitten her tongue and bled to death." Leon told him, Chung Sin added, that he was going to send the trunk to Jersey City, thence to Europe. As a matter of fact, it lay untouched in the stuffy little room until Sun Leung, proprietor of the restaurant below, noticed the odor about the building and summoned the police.

Despite repeated interrogations Chung Sin declined to say just what happened in the room when the girl was murdered. He admitted having heard a scuffle in the room during the night, and told of Elsie having arrived on the previous afternoon, the day when she disappeared from her home. "Did Leon take her there or did she go of her own accord?" he was asked.

"She went there alone," he replied.

"Was she in love with Leon or Leon in love with her?" was another question. At this Chung Sin relapsed into silence and then only smiled and shook his head. He indicated, however, that the girl had sought out the Chinaman.

The confession served but to clinch the already prevalent belief that Leon Ling killed the girl, who became initiated into the ways the Chinese live through her mother, who now has been taken to a sanitarium, crazed with grief. It does not, however, so far as can be learned, throw any light as to where the murderer is at present or the route which he took in his flight from the city.

Suspect at Johnstown.

Johnstown, Pa., June 23. — Local Chinamen have notified the authorities of a strange Chinaman alighting from a westbound train. He refused to give his name. His description tallies largely with that of the Sigel girl's slayer. It is believed the stranger boarded an electric car for Windber. Officers have taken up the search.

LIGHTNING HITS SIX

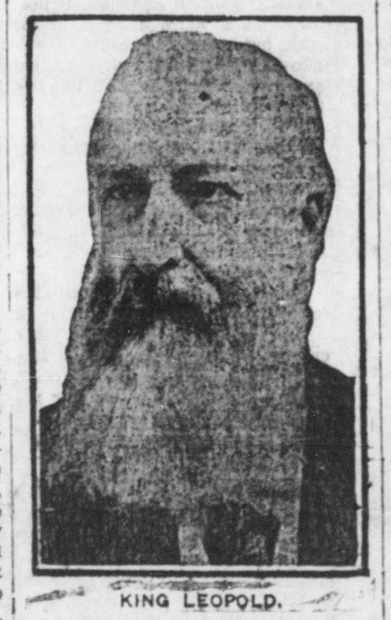
Two Boys at Hazleton May Die; Others Recover.

Hazleton, Pa., June 23.—Lightning struck six boys here on a porch where they had taken refuge from the rain during a short but severe electrical storm. Two of the boys, Joseph Sabo and John Hock, may die. They have not yet regained consciousness. The others were rendered unconscious, but have recovered and are believed to be out of danger. The bolt tore the shoes from the feet of the boys.

SAY KING LEOPOLD IS READY TO ABDICATE

It is Believed Belgian Ruler Will Move to Paris.

Brussels, June 23.—What is deemed confirmation of the report that King Leopold is shortly to remove to Paris for future residence, thereby abdicating the throne, developed in the arrival from Paris of an expert on art values, who began taking an inventory of every piece of furniture in the royal palace.



KING LEOPOLD.

This, it is believed, is preparatory to the offering of the furniture for sale. The thoroughness with which the inventory was made indicates that the palace will be literally stripped.

Leopold has already disposed of many of his paintings and art treasures, having only enough left, it is declared, to furnish his contemplated Paris house.

The Belgians are furious at the prospective despoiling of the palace, as it is taken for granted that the king will pocket the proceeds of the sale, just as he did when he sold his paintings and art works.

Regarding his future plans Leopold is silent. He is seventy-four years old. There seem to be grounds for the report that he is tired of public life and wishes to retire.

UPHOLD UNWRITTEN LAW

Man Who Killed Midnight Visitor Acquitted by Jury.

Altoona, Pa., June 23.—After being out an hour the jury in the trial of Charles Claycomb, charged with the felonious shooting of William Feeney, returned a verdict of not guilty. The shooting took place at the Claycomb house April 25 last.

Claycomb returned home late at night and found Feeney in the house. Claycomb drew a revolver and in the ensuing struggle it was discharged, the bullet entering Feeney's head. The defense was based on the unwritten law, and the jury approved it.

WAS TO ACT WITH FARUM

Woman Says Mrs. Gould Planned to Go on Stage.

WITNESSES UPHOLD HER ACTS

They Declare She Drank Moderately, Her Language Was Always Proper, and That She Never Saw Dustin Farnum Except In the Presence of Others.

New York, June 24.—Counsel for Katherine Clemmons Gould, who is suing Howard Gould for separation and $250,000 a year alimony, labored long and late to clean up the remaining testimony in rebuttal by the plaintiff's witnesses, excepting perhaps Mrs. Gould herself, if she so desires to testify. Today a deposition of Dustin Farnum, the actor, who has figured so prominently in the case, was submitted in Mrs. Gould's behalf.

The testimony submitted and depositions read for Mrs. Gould taken as a whole cover in rebuttal all the incidents of the various motor trips that she is alleged to have taken to cities in which Dustin Farnum was playing. Also it is sought to prove that Mrs. Gould drank moderately, principally with her meals; that her language was never other than what it should have been; that she saw Dustin Farnum only in the company of others, and that there was nothing out of the ordinary in her attitude toward him.

Mary Conlin, a maid to Mrs. Elijah Sells, Mrs. Gould's cousin by marriage, and one of her guests on the motor trip to Philadelphia, swore that none of the party wore dust coats. Witnesses for Mr. Gould had previously testified that a man's linen dust coat had been found in Mrs. Gould's room at the Bellevue-Stratford.

With the exception of Mrs. Sells, who testified, and the deposition of her daughter Marjorie, the testimony for the most part was that of servants and employes of various shops.

Miss Sells' narrative more out that of her mother, favoring Mrs. Gould, as to her association with Dustin Farnum, and testifying as to her sobriety at all times. She said Mrs. Gould planned to go on the stage with Dustin Farnum.

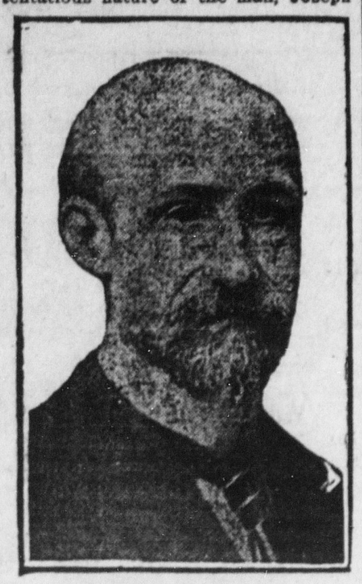
GEORGIA HAS NEW HEAD

Governor Brown Is Inaugurated With Simple Ceremonies.

Atlanta, Ga., June 26.—With quiet, simple ceremonies befitting the unostentatious nature of the man, Joseph M. Brown was inducted into office today as governor of the state of Georgia. In carrying out his intention to have an inauguration of the simplest kind, consistent with the provisions of the state constitution, Governor Brown walked to the state capitol dressed in a suit of Georgia made brown jeans.



JOSEPH M. BROWN.

Governor Brown was chosen as the Democratic candidate at the primaries in June, 1908, defeating Hoke Smith, the outgoing governor, who sought the indorsement of another term. The acute enmity between Smith and Brown began when the latter was removed by the former from his office of railroad commissioner. It was asserted that Brown favored the railroads unduly.

Georgia's new governor is the son of Joseph E. Brown, governor of Georgia during the Civil War. He is a lawyer, farmer, merchant and railroad man, as well as the author of an epic poem.

BOY SHOT AND BURIED HIS LITTLE BROTHER

Coroner Believes Lad Was Alive When Interred.

Modesto, Cal., June 26.—Cecil Hopkins, twelve years old, confessed that he shot and buried his brother Theodore, six years old, and his statement strengthens the coroner's belief that the victim was buried alive on the hill where his body was found.

According to his story, Cecil killed Theodore while the parents were absent from home, after the boys had quarreled over their luncheon. Cecil said he drove his brother from the house and shot him.

Fearing the consequences of his deed when the parents should return, he dug a grave in the sand. While digging the grave for the boy, Cecil said, Theodore moaned and stretched his arms. The cramped position of the arms, the nature of the wound and the fact that the child's mouth was filled with sand, add to the belief that the boy was buried alive.

BURIED NEAR SCENE OF CRIME

Churches and Cemeteries Closed to Mrs. Woodill's Murderer.

LURED VICTIM TO BUNGALOW

A Bottle Containing a Drug Found In Shack Indicates That Mrs. Woodill Was Drugged and Detained There Against Her Will.

St. Michaels, Md., June 28. — The theory that Edith May Woodill was lured to "Lame Bob" Eastman's lonely bungalow without knowledge of where she was going, and that she was drugged and detained there against her will, was advanced when a further search of the shack, which the superstitious folk of the neighborhood forevermore will shun as haunted, revealed a small bottle which a hasty examination shows contained a mixture of narcotic drugs. There were strong traces of morphine in the almost empty phial.

This discovery tends to bear out the theory which the people of the community who knew and loved the girl long have wanted to believe. They never have listened to the idea that she was involved in a drunken orgy at the bungalow and have contended that she lost her life in repulsing the advances of the man who acknowledged his guilt by snuffing out his life when it seemed that the hands of the law were about to be laid upon him.

Pawned Her Jewelry.

The day after Mrs. Woodill was killed Eastman went to Baltimore and pawned her jewelry—two diamond rings and a pearl pin. The next day he was back again, smiling, among his acquaintances at St. Michaels and McDaniel, paying debts and jesting about the gay time his guests had.

In a new made grave, not fifty feet from the scene of the crime which led to his death, Eastman's body was laid away. No man of the church was there to offer a last word for the dead; no friend or relative came near. The undertakers and their assistants, a little band of newspaper men and a few idle persons morbidly attracted to follow the strange funeral procession were the only persons at the grave. With heads bowed they repeated the familiar words of the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Eastman, stopping twelve miles away, expressed no desire to attend the funeral. No church or churchyard of the vicinity would open its doors or gates to the dead man. Superstitious negroes, who could not be induced to dig the grave, stood awe-stricken on the outskirts of the funeral party.

Sheriff Seizes Household Effects.

The sheriff seized all of Eastman's meager household effects to satisfy an action for debt brought by a local creditor and the bungalow is empty. Who could wish to purchase or have in their possession these gruesome relics of an atrocious murder cannot be conjectured.

The search of the cabin revealed further evidence of the fact that the murder had been committed there. At the place where the head of the bed had rested a part of the older flooring had been ripped up and new planks laid loosely down. Beneath these planks the floor beam had been newly scraped with a chisel or some other sharp instrument. But the efforts to remove all blood stains had failed. They still were there, and the ground below had absorbed a quantity of the girl's life blood.

Particular search was made for any possible fragments of a champagne bottle which might tend to bear out Eastman's claims that Mrs. Woodill was murdered by another woman in a jealous frenzy. Two whisky and three wine glasses were discovered, but there were no evidences of champagne bottles ever having been in or around the shack.

COAL LAND VALUES RAISED.

Commission Recommends [illegible] Coal Sent to Ma[illegible]

The value of coal la[illegible] Cleveland county was ra[illegible] commission from $11,[illegible] 763, thus vindicating [illegible] the county commiss[illegible] few years that the values of [illegible] lands were all too low. The commission made great change in the assessments of the various tracts of coal lands in the county, raising some and lowering others, in accordance with the evidence presented to them. One tract especially was raised from $190 to $20,000.

The commission came to its conclusions reluctantly, stating that acreage of coal lands was no equitable basis for taxation. There are 180 tracts in the county, covering about 50 square miles, 16 or 17 veins. In some the coal is minable, in others not. In some coal is under the entire tract, in others under only a portion. The veins are not of uniform thickness. The pitch of the veins varies from being flat to tipping at an angle of 85 degrees. The quality of the coal varies from soft and pliable to hard and firm. The cost of mining is also varies. The value of the land depends on the available coal, its accessability, the number and thickness of the seams.

The commission recommends immediate legislation to secure an equitable basis for taxation. Coal lands, it affirms, become depleted and finally exhausted and valueless. Its body is destroyed and never restored. In order to earn any income from it, it is necessary to destroy it. Therefore each ton should share in the taxation. There is no reason why an unminable ton of coal which may lie dormant in the mines for a hundred years, should pay taxes annually during all that time, when a remunerative ton of coal goes to market and escapes with one year's tax. The only remedy is to tax coal sent to market. A direct tax on the annual output is the only remedy.

Carriage Automobile.

G. W. Hall, of Bellefonte, Pa., arrived here Monday in a new carriage automobile, which he is demonstrating to business men of Lebanon. The parts of the machines were sent to Harrisburg and accompanied by C. J. Rhen, of this city, he drove the car to Lebanon. The trip was made through back roads and the general efficiency and reliability of it was satisfactorily demonstrated.

This afternoon J. H. Cilley accompanied Mr. Hall to Mt. Gretna in order to test the car further. Mr. Hall will be in Lebanon during the remainder of the week and will have the car thoroughly proven by local business men. The car has the support of the Board of Trade and Retail Merchants association.

The impression of several men is that a number of these cars have already been constructed, but as a matter of fact the car at present in Lebanon is the only one and this being continuously experimented with. Neither has a factory been established.

The purpose of interesting Lebanonians in the car is to secure their support to erect a factory here for their manufacture. Meanwhile a report of the durability and usefulness of it will be submitted at the next meeting of the Board of Trade.—Lebanon Daily News.

REVOLUTION IN THE TELEGRAPH.

Action of Western Union and Postal Arouses Public Indignation.

Significant Action of Government In Honoring Independent Company — Rapid Service and Cheaper Rates.

New York, June 25.—Several months ago a bill was introduced in the Massachusetts legislature requiring telegraph companies to forward with every telegram the exact time it was filed for transmission. It was contended that this would insure a prompter service on the part of the telegraph companies; that it would give the receiver of the message the satisfaction of knowing how long it had been in transit, and, finally, that this is precisely what the government does with letters. Notwithstanding the opposition of the old telegraph companies the bill became law, to take effect June 16.

A circular order was issued by the Western Union company to its office managers in Massachusetts instructing them to charge for carrying the time of filing, which means that it purposes to use the law to its pecuniary advantage. "For example," says the letter, "if a message is filed at 11:45 a. m. the words, 'Time filed, 11:45 a. m.,' will be transmitted as a part of the check and will be counted and charged for as extra words."

The Postal Telegraph company also intimated its intention to make this extra charge.

This action on the part of the "telegraph trust" aroused a storm of indignation all over the state, and immediate action was taken to amend the bill to compel the companies to carry the filing time free of charge. The press is commenting in very strong terms on what is called "corporate insolence." The Boston Post, commenting on the matter editorially, states:

It is entirely clear that the objection of the telegraph companies is not to the expense or trouble involved. A very simple system of code signals would enable the companies to place the time of filing upon their state messages. "Five or six words" would not be required. Two or three code letters over the wire would accomplish the result at nominal expense and trouble.

The real objection of the telegraph companies is that the stating of the time of filing a message would reveal the long and inexcusable delays to which messages are often subjected.

But the reason why the telegraph is used at all is to save time in transmitting a message, and when the public pays for such expedition it certainly has a right to know whether the service for which it pays is rendered. In telegraph systems abroad it is customary to furnish such information without charge, and there is no good reason why it should not be done here. In fact, there should not only be a state law but a national law requiring it, so that reasonable promptness in handling interstate messages would also be assured. * * *

For some months a new independent telegraph company, the Telepost, has been operating commercially in Massachusetts and other New England states. One of the features of this new telegraph company's service is the carrying of the filing time free of charge on all its messages, and this is being done between all points reached by its lines both in the East and Middle West.

By this system messages are transmitted at the enormous speed of 1,000 words a minute over any one wire, thus enabling the company to do business at a fraction of the cost to the older companies which operate by the old method of hand transmission.

Not only does the Telepost company carry the filing time free, but it sends a telegram of twenty-five words for 25 cents regardless of distance, and it has introduced a new service of fifty words for 25 cents known as Teleposts, which are transmitted by wire and delivered at destination through the United States mail. A ten word ten cent message known as a Telecard is treated in the same way as a Telepost and delivered on a postcard.

Judging from the situation which has arisen in Massachusetts and the manner in which it has been met by the Western Union and Postal companies, it would seem that the public can look for little relief in the matter of quicker service or cheaper rates from these companies.

The importance of this Telepost system cannot be overestimated, and it is significant that the United States patent office is exhibiting the system in the interior department government building at Seattle exposition as one of the most wonderful of modern inventions carrying a basic patent. It is the only exhibit of advancement in the telegraphic art.

For some time during the last session of congress there was a demand made for government control of telegraphs, and possibly the present interest of the government in the Telepost system is not unconnected with that demand, but the Telepost company states that its system is not for sale, and its plans are being pushed forward for connecting up the east and west, adding important sections in rapid succession until the system covers the whole country.

With public support any difficulties facing this independent telegraph company in establishing its system should be materially minimized, if not eliminated, and when the older companies give such proof of their readiness to snatch at any opportunity to mulct the public it is time that an independent fight should be given every possible support.

BEVERIDGE HITS TOBACCO TRUST

Says It Gets Millions That Belong to Consumer.

THE WAR TAX FOR ITSELF

Indiana Senator Declares the $21,000,000 Collected Yearly Should Go to the Government—Says Tax on Tobacco Is Only a Fraction of the Tax of Other Civilized Nations.

Washington, June 25.—Declaring that the American Tobacco company, which is ordinarily spoken of as the tobacco trust, had been the recipient of many millions of dollars which otherwise would have gone into the national treasury, because of the failure of the government to require a change in the size of tobacco packages when the war revenue law was repealed, Senator Beveridge, Republican, of Indiana, spoke at length in support of his amendment to the tariff bill correcting this omission.

Mr. Beveridge declared that if adopted, his amendment would give the government more than $21,000,000 of revenue and correct the wrong which the people had suffered for eight years.

Mr. Beveridge asserted that the American tax on tobacco is only a fraction of the tax of most other civilized nations. Stating that the annual consumption in this country amounts to five and a half pounds for every man, woman and child, he said that if we taxed tobacco at the same rate as is imposed by England and France we would every year derive $333,386,666, instead of less than $50,000,000 as at present.

Mr. Beveridge said that the consumer had been required to pay the increased tax of 1898, and he conceded that this was right. "But," he said, "when the war was over and the added war tax was taken off, instead of reducing the price to the consumer the manufacturers continued it, and this was wrong. "In other words," he continued, "the manufacturer kept on collecting the war tax after it had been taken off, and, instead of paying it to the government, he paid it to himself."

Mr. Beveridge then entered upon a detailed account of the origin and growth of the present American Tobacco company, with a total capitalization of $317,000,000. Upon this capitalization, most of which he declared to be water, he said the profits in 1906 were almost $37,000,000.

TRIED TO KILL SON

Trenton Man Claimed He Had Thrown Him Down and Beaten Him.

Trenton, June 25.—Claiming that his son, Carl, aged thirty-two years, had thrown him down and beaten him, Carl Miller, Sr., of 71 Tyrell avenue, the police say, made two unsuccessful attempts to kill the young man. The mind of the elder Miller has been slightly weakened lately because of sickness, and when his son returned home from his work at noon, he attempted to stab him with a butcher knife, but the son escaped from the house.

During the time the young man was away from the house, the father purchased a revolver and bullets. When the younger Miller stepped inside the door, upon returning home several hours later, his father thrust the revolver in his face and pulled the trigger. The revolver missed fire, and as the son was running from the house, the older Miller pulled the trigger a second time and the bullet imbedded itself in the door jamb. The older man escaped, but was later captured.

OUR FAREWELL.

With this issue our relations with the Bellefonte Republican will cease and the control of the paper passes into the hands of Charles E Dorworth, late a political writer on the Philadelphia Press.

This change has been brought about through an agreement to sell the property to Mr Dorworth which sale will be closed the latter part of this week, the latter to take charge next Monday July 5th.

This plant was purchased in 1873 by the late Edward T. Tuten and for 36 years has been controlled by father and son, so that it is just like parting with an old friend, or one of the family.

We desire to thank the patrons for their kind support during our ownership of the paper, and realize our failure to keep the paper up to the high standard to which we aspired. With the change of management, however, we predict great improvements, and commend Mr. Dorworth to your kindest consideration. He is a man of ability, and wide experience as a newspaper writer and a thorough Republican. These qualities presage an era of push and enterprise in the future management of this journal.

To the editorial fraternity we bid adieu with regret. Our relations have been most pleasant, and we acknowledge with gratitude their kind and cordial support and entertain none but the most earnest wishes for their continued prosperity.

Injured in the Woods.

Harry Masden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Masden, residing on their farm between Beech Creek and Blanchard, was struck on the head by a falling tree in the woods at Cross Forks, where he was employed, Tuesday and taken to Renovo, and later taken to the Lock Haven hospital Wednesday. At the time he was admitted to the hospital he was still in an unconscious condition and was suffering from a bad fracture of the skull. His condition is somewhat improved but is yet very critical.

NEGRO FIREMEN WIN CONTEST

Arbitration Board Gives Them Same Wages as Whites.

ONE MEMBER DISSENTS

The Award Provides That There Shall Be No Discrimination on the Georgia Railroad Between Whites and Blacks — Dissenting Opinion Says Award Is a Menace to Travelers.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—The Georgia railroad strike arbitration board decided against the seniority of white firemen over colored men. The arbitrators, however, placed a premium on intelligence among firemen which, it is believed, will ultimately result in the gradual elimination of all except the most expert colored men.

The arbitration board was composed of Hilary Herbert, of Montgomery, representing the Georgia railroad; Congressman Thomas Hardwick, of Georgia, representing the firemen, and Chancellor David C. Burrow, of the Georgia university, as umpire.

Their decision was worded guardedly and did not in any case deal directly with the race problem. Their most direct reference in the senority problem was in the words: "We find against proposition C." This proposition read: "All firemen when hired shall be placed in freight yards or hostling service, and senior white firemen shall have preference of engines and runs."

The award makes the pay of colored firemen equal to that of whites. The colored men have been receiving about 20 to 50 cents per day less than whites.

Mr. Hardwick in a dissenting opinion from the proposition fixing colored men's wages the same as those of whites, said: "In so far as the above finding permits the continued employment of colored firemen, I dissent, because I believe from the evidence that such employment is a menace to the safety of the traveling public."

WILTBANK DEFICIT $15,000

Secret Service Agents Seek Fugitive Atlantic City Bank Clerk.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28.—Final examinations of the books of Eugene Wiltbank, the missing bookkeeper of the Second National bank, shows a shortage of more than $15,000, according to the bank officials. The fugitive bookkeeper is being sought by government secret service men by direction of the department of justice at Washington.

The government detectives believe that the young man has sailed for Europe. It has been established that Wiltbank left for New York June 12, the day of the discovery of the deficit. It is said that he had more than $1200 when he left this city.

MOTOR LAUNCH BLOWS UP

Negro Drowned and Six Men Severely Burned at Richmond, Va.

Richmond, Va., June 28. — Half a dozen men, all white, were seriously but not fatally burned and a negro jumped overboard and probably was drowned as a result of an explosion of the tank on a gasoline launch in the river here.

The white men are John B. Metzger, Charles A. Metzger, Charles Leake, David Wilson, L. A. Welcher and William Wright. The launch caught fire and sank.

WILMINGTON GAS PLANT SOLD

Wilmington, Del., June 28.—It was announced that a syndicate comprising C. H. Geist and Lawrence McCormick, of Philadelphia; ex-Comptroller Charles H. Dawes and Knowlton Ames, of Chicago, have purchased the gas plant and system of the Wilmington Gas and Electric company. The property was bought from James & John Dobson, of Philadelphia, for a price said to be $1,325,000. The syndicate owns a large number of gas plants in the west and south.

Bull Fighter Killed.

Suicide Over Religion.

Pittsburg, June 28. — Following a quarrel over religion, Frank Anker, twenty-two years old, fired a bullet into his head and fell dead while sitting at the side of his sweetheart.

THE AGONY OF INDECISION.

Some Women Slaves to the Habit of Vacillation.

I would rather regulate my life by the flip of a penny than suffer the tortures of indecision that I know some women do, says Ruth Cameron in a Pittsburg paper.

"Shall I get straw matting or denim for the new bedroom carpet?"

"Shall I have Mary sweep the front room today and wash the blankets tomorrow or wash the blankets today and clean the front rooms tomorrow?"

"Shall I have roast lamb and asparagus for the special company Sunday, or would it be better to have planked steak?"

Hours and nerves and complexions they wear out swinging the balance back and forth between such weighty questions as these and in the end make no wiser decisions than if they had settled them offhand. Some women make themselves fairly wretched over their wardrobes, such awful opportunity for vacillation they find in choice of material and trimming and make. To others papering and carpeting resolve themselves into a perfect agony of indecision. "I would rather clean that house from top to bottom than pick out a living room carpet again," I heard one woman say the other day. "I do believe I got more tired from tramping around and trying to make up my mind than from all the sweeping and dusting and washing I did." We have just been through the agonies of papering a room in my own home, which perhaps accounts for my warmth on the subject.

It took us two weeks to pick out that paper, and before we ceased wavering between the yellow paper with the poppy border and the pink stripes with the rose border mother almost had to take to her bed.

Indecision is a disease, and, what's more, it is a chronic and a cumulative disease. The more you let yourself be undecided the more undecided you are going to be.

Mental suggestion and mental firmness in following the suggestion is about the only remedy possible.

In the effort to cure myself, for I might as well confess that much of this sermon is directed at my own vacillations, I have formulated three rules.

Perhaps they're worth passing on.

First.—Bring up the arguments slowly and carefully for each side. If they are many and complicated, take a pencil and write them down.

Second.—After having thus gone over the ground make a decision and act upon it at once in some way so that it shall become irrevocable.

Third.—When you begin to feel a tendency to regret your course, to wallow in wails of "it might have been" and to tremble at the consequences that may follow your decision, repeat the following classic stanza:

The cow is in the hammock,
The calf is in the lake,
The baby's in the garbage pail.
What difference does it make?

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

Squeeze a few drops of lemon in the water in which potatoes are boiled just before they are done and they will not turn black.

If soda is mixed with flour in making ginger cookies with sour milk instead of being dissolved in milk, as is the usual way, they will be lighter.

Paint that sticks to glass can be removed with hot vinegar.

Cleaning pots and pans is the bugbear of the cook. It is hard work at best, and if left until after the dishes are washed it hangs over one as a burden. One easy way is to keep a supply of newspapers in the kitchen, and as soon as a skillet is emptied pour in it a little boiling water, then throw the water out and rub skillet with a large piece of paper. If the frying pan is not clean add a little more water and finally polish until dry with a fresh piece of paper and hang away before other work is attempted.

To keep milk toast from being soggy, as it too frequently is, try serving the boiling, buttered milk in a covered pitcher, passing it with crisp, hot toast. In this way each person can have toast as soft or as crisp as desired.

The housekeeper who wants "the best" does her own marketing, and does it early, before the foodstuffs are picked over or wilted from the hot sun.

More Americans should understand cooking with curry powder. It makes a delicious change for the cooking of meats, rice, eggs and fish. An Anglo-Indian will tell you we know nothing of the use of curries, but that is no reason why we should not learn.

There are fewer reckoning days if housekeepers pay cash. If they persist in running accounts for groceries and other staples they should have a book and see to it that the right price is put down the minute anything is bought.

Director of Reformative Institution.

Dr. Katherine Bement Davis of Bedford, N. Y., is the superintendent of the New York State Reformatory For Women and has been able to do much for the unfortunate women committed to her charge. A thorough collegiate and special training has fitted Dr. Davis for her important work, and she possesses unusual administrative ability. Poise, firmness, judgment, sympathy and good sense are her distinguishing traits.

Regarded generally as one of the expert authorities of the subject of the proper treatment of delinquent women, Dr. Davis is frequently called upon to make addresses before women's clubs and societies.

Dr. Davis' medical skill was put to good service during the recent catastrophe in Messina, where she gave great aid to the suffering and helpless.

TROLLEY MEN WIN BIG VICTORY

Pittsburg Strikers Returned to Work This Morning.

ALL DEMANDS GRANTED

Company Concedes Every Point, Except That of Drinking When In Uniform, Even Though Off Duty—Lives of Deputies Saved by Arrival of Police.

Pittsburg, June 29.—The strike of the street car men was adjusted and the workmen returned to their cars this morning, after having been off just forty-eight hours. It is a complete victory for the men. Every point was conceded by the company save that of drinking when in uniform, even though off duty. This case will be submitted for arbitration.

The company will keep its old agreements with the men, and readjust the running time. Mayor Magee forced the company to surrender by threatening to seize the lines. Yesterday there had been several riots, in which shots were fired, but no person wounded.

Two county detectives missed death by a narrow margin in the afternoon, however, when a crowd of persons around the Rankin street car barns set upon fourteen strike-breakers. The officers attempted to pacify the fighting men.

Officers Are Rescued.

The crowd devoted its attention to the officers, and after beating them unmercifully dragged them to a high bridge over a ravine near the car barns and threatened to throw them over the rail if they refused to promise to keep out of the clashes between the strike-breakers and the friends of the strikers. The timely arrival of the police saved the officers.

Rioting reached the down town section early in the afternoon. A crowd around the Herron Hill car barns placed piles of lumber on the car tracks when it was rumored that cars would be taken from the barns by non-union crews. The police dispersed the hooting and hissing mob and removed the timbers from the tracks. Not a car was in operation with the exception of a United States mail special.

BOLT KILLED WOMAN

Lightning Followed Wire Clothesline Into House.

Dover, Del., June 29.—A coroner's inquest showed that a wire clothesline was the conductor that carried death to Katie Lowber, a woman living with her father, Peter Lowber, near Viola. The woman during an electric storm went upstairs to bring down a mattress and sleep on the first floor with her month-old baby.

At the landing of the stairs on the second floor a clothesline wire was attached to the window stretching from a walnut tree. The tree was struck and demolished and the lightning ran along to the window, instantly killing the woman. Her body was found when the baby's cries gave the alarm.

PILLOW SMOTHERS BABY

Perished After Being Left In Bed by Its Mother.

Danville, Va., June 29.—Smothered to death between two pillows was the fate of Louise, the twelve-months-old baby of Herman Cunningham. The mother placed the sleeping child in a bed while she attended to her usual household duties.

The baby was sleeping between two pillows, across which was suspended a mosquito net. Mrs. Cunningham returned to the room an hour later and was horrified to find that one of the pillows, which had been elevated, had toppled over and that the baby was dead.

Negro Kills Another.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 29.—While Booker T. Washington was addressing a large crowd near Bluefield, on the Virginian railroad, Will Going, a negro, shot and instantly killed Thomas Walker, another negro. The shooting was the result of Walker's talking to Going's lady love.

Now 74, Claim to Be Oldest Triplets.

Wilkesboro, N. C., June 29.—Hale and hearty, the Gibbs brothers, seventy-four years old, of this place, claim to be the oldest living triplets. They are all great-grandfathers and all three carried muskets in the Civil War—Confederate army.

Hangs Himself In Cellar.

Bloomfield, N. J., June 29.—J. Edward Young was found dead in the cellar of his home, 37 Baldwin street. He had hanged himself from a beam. The body was cold when discovered by his son.

Couldn't Pay Debt, Kills Self and Mule

Columbia, S. C., June 29.—Because a creditor had threatened to seize his mule for debt, John S. Grainger, a white man, forty years old, shot his mule and then killed himself.

The Weather.

Forecast for this section: Local showers, followed by probably cloudy and cooler, today; tomorrow, fair and cooler; light variable winds, becoming north.

JACK BLACKBURN GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

Colored Pugilist Pleads Guilty to Murder Charge.

Philadelphia, June 30.—Jack Blackburn, the colored lightweight pugilist, who was on trial, charged with the murder of Alonzo Polk, another colored man, last January, changed his plea to one of guilty. He was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment. His sentence dates from his commitment last January, and with good behavior he can secure his freedom in a little more than eight years.

Polk's wife and Maud Pillson, a white woman who lived with Blackburn, were having an altercation when the two men arrived home in a cab. Polk interfered, and Blackburn, it is claimed, drew a revolver and fired several shots, fatally wounding Polk and hitting Mrs. Polk in the back. She recovered.

PITTSBURG BASE BALL MAD

Opening of New Million Dollar Park Excites Local Fans Today.

Pittsburg, June 30.—This is the day of the fan in Pittsburg. Only a championship pennant is needed to make the local base ball enthusiast entirely happy, and he is confident, judging from the present standing of his beloved Pirates, that next season will see floating over Forbes park, the new home of the local club, the flag that means victory this year.

Today's opening of Forbes park, Barney Dreyfuss' $1,000,000 ball field, has aroused all Pittsburg to the highest point of base ball fervor. Many of the business houses of the city have declared a half holiday for their employes, in order to give them a chance to go out to the new park, witness its dedication and see Fred Clark's Pirates play the Cubs. The new park is said by competent critics to be the finest of its kind in the world. It has a seating capacity of 25,000 persons, and accommodations for 10,000 more are already planned for next season.

Forbes park is named for General James Forbes, the British soldier, who called the site of this city Fort Pitt, and who, with the aid of George Washington, compelled the French to make a home run from old Fort Duquesne.

To Exclude Negro Firemen by Law.

Atlanta, Ga., June 30.—A bill to exclude negroes from employment as firemen and trainmen in this state is being prepared by a committee representing the firemen and train of the Georgia railroad. The bill will be presented to the Georgia legislature, now in session.

Why Suffer?

If you suffer pain from any cause, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills will relieve it—and leave no bad after-effects. That's the important thing. Neither do they create a habit. More often the attacks become less frequent, or disappear altogether. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have no other effect except to relieve pain and quiet nervous irritation.

"We are never without Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. My husband and son, aged 15 were always subject to sick headache until we began using these Pills, and they have broken them up entirely. Don't think they have had to use them for six months. I recommend them to every one. A few weeks ago I heard an old lady friend was sick. I went to see her. She was down with LaGrippe, and nearly crazy with awful backache. I gave her one of the Anti-Pain Pills and left another for her to take in a short time. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again. Last winter my husband was taken with pluerisy on both sides, and I know he would have died if it hadn't been for the Pills. In less than half an hour he was sweating, and went to bed and slept."

HOT WEATHER AND CONSTIPATION.

There is a close connection between hot weather and constipation. People do not seem to understand this, and even doctors are slow in comprehending it.

Constipation depends mainly on dryness of the bowels. During the hot weather the fluids of the body are drained away in perspiration. Unless considerable extra fluid is drunk, the internal organs are deprived of their usual amount of fluid. The fluids usually used by the bowels to keep the contents moist, are absorbed into the blood and evaporated on the surface of the body, to cool the body during the hot weather. Hence, constipation.

It is very unfortunate indeed, for any one to be obliged to take drastic cathartics to relieve constipation. Of course drastic cathartics will clean out the bowels, but the habit of constipation remains just the same. Even a little worse.

If a mild and gentle stimulant of the bowels is used, combined with a tonic that has the double effect of stimulating the natural peristaltic action of the bowels, as well as attracting to the bowels the necessary portion of fluids, if such a remedy could be devised it would be of great value to the people during the hot weather.

It is believed that Peruna comes nearer to being a perfect remedy in this particular than any other popular household remedy. Taken according to the directions on the bottle, it not only increases the appetite and gives strength to the nervous system, but it produces a slight action of the bowels, overcoming constipation without producing a cathartic action.

We are in receipt of a great many letters confirming the statements made above. One will suffice for illustration.

Mr. William Eckert, 278 North Seventh St., Columbus, Ohio, writes of Peruna:

"I have been afflicted with indeed constipation for twenty-five years.

"About six months ago I was feeling badly, and concluded to use Peruna as a tonic. To my surprise, before I had finished the first bottle of Peruna I noted that my bowels were moving regularly, without any physic. From that time to this my constipation has disappeared. Peruna has not only built me up, but it has cured me of chronic constipation."

Married at Mountment.

Charles William Fillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fillman, of Jersey Shore and Miss Josephine Irene Bergner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bergner, of Monument, were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening June 22nd. by Rev. W. H. Patterson, pastor of the Disciple church of Blanchard. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Bergner and son Caspar, Miss Irene Peters, of Beech Creek, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fillman and daughter, Mrs. Albert Harrow and Master Lawrence Fillman, of Jersey Shore, Rev. and Mrs. Patterson, of Blanchard. Immediately after the ceremony an elegant dinner was served. The bride is a popular young lady, well known here and in Blanchard, graduating from the High school in the latter place in 1908. The groom is a highly respected young man who has been employed for several years as a telegraph operator on the Beech Creek division of the New York Central now stationed at Hayes and at one time located here where he is known. The happy young couple left on the evening train east for Williamsport enroute to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y.

Howard.

With the promise of a good crop of hay this year the farmers hereabouts have been disposing of what they had on hand from last year. A number of carloads were shipped during the past ten days and fair prices were received for it.

Last Thursday morning about two o'clock Squire Hayes Schenck, dreaming that his house was afire, jumped out of bed and rushed out onto a porch. The porch is not protected with a railing and Mr. Schenck stepped off the edge, falling to the ground below, a distance of about fifteen feet. His one arm was broken and he received injuries of a less serious nature.

Harry Marsden, of this place was injured in the woods near Cross Fork, Potter county, last Tuesday by being struck on the head by a falling tree. The injured man was taken to the Lock Haven hospital Wednesday in an unconscious condition and it was learned that his skull was fractured. For several days his condition was very serious but he has at different times gained consciousness and his recovery is hoped for.

The boys of the Lock Haven Y. M. C. A., will camp near Howard again this year, expecting to open camp on July 20. Their ten days camp here last year was a very pleasant one and will doubtless be a very enjoyable affair this year. During their stay here the camp was visited by many of our young people.

Last week while the carpenters were working at W. R. Gardner's barn a wren would start to build a nest in one of their coat pockets and each evening the work was pretty well completed. Seeing that the little wren was determined to build her nest in one of the coat pockets Mr. Gardner hung out one of his old coats so the harmless little bird could build unmolested.

The heavy rains of the spring brought sand and fine leaves into the mains of the and for the past few weeks were perceptible on wash day when there was heavy drawing of water. While there is no danger of disease from this sediment its presence is not desirable in the water, and on Thursday the pipes were thoroughly flushed and we now have the same crystal clean water as always.

The Howard band assisted in furnishing music at the festival held by the Nittany band Saturday evening.

One of the most successful children's services of the season was held in the Fairview Evangelical church Sunday evening. A large number of persons from town attended. The music by the choir and orchestra was exceptionally good and was under the leadership of Joseph L. Gardner.

The Howard base ball team is developing into a pretty fast bunch of players and are having a very successful season. It is one of the teams that did not exhaust itself in last year's C. and C. league and are nearly as strong as they. So far they have been more than a match for the other two surviving teams of that famous league—Beech Creek and Mill Hall. One of the best games of the season was played at Mill Hall Saturday afternoon, but it required 12 innings to decide the contest. Both sides scored two runs in the first inning and no more runs were scored until the twelfth when Howard got two more runs in and kept their opponents from scoring in their half.

The young folks will long remember Mr. Thompson and the circus.

Miles Walker of this place; being the amount allowed me for a sprain of a thumb I sustained several weeks ago while exercising at the gymnasium.

Married at Watkin's Glen.

John H. Hunter, son of Mrs. James Hunter, and Miss Etta Mann, daughter of Mrs. George Mann, of Blanchard, took the excursion to Watkin's Glen, N. Y. Monday, May 31st. Nothing unusal was connected with the trip, apparently, but a few days later rumor had it that these young people had grasped the opportunity to have the nuptial knot tied. Only recently have they refused to either confirm or deny the report, but it is out now that they were upon that day and date joined in holy wedlock while in the Empire state. Shortly after their return, the younger element, taking no chances tendered the pair a calithumpian serenade at the Mann home. The bride is a popular and highly respected young woman and the groom is an industrious, upright young man of splendid reputation. He is a carpenter by trade. Their many friends wish them happiness prosperity and a long married life.

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are exactly akin to the churning of butter. It is not apparent then that if the stomach churn is "sour" it sours all which is put into it? The evil of a foul stomach is not the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of the blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol. Its ingredients are plainly printed on each bottle-wrapper.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

July 4 h. 1909.

Paul's Second Missionary Journey. Antioch to Philippi. Acts xv:36 to xvi: 15

Golden Text—Come over into Macedonia and help us Acts xvi:9.

Verse 36.—Is it generally necessary to follow up any good work which we have commenced if we would make it a success?

Verses 37 39—Would it have been wiser if Barnabas had first consulted Paul in the matter of taking Mark?

Barnabas was a relative of Mark; are we as good judges of the fitness of our relatives for an office as we are of the fitness of others? Why?

Why is nepotism in government appointments looked upon with suspicion?

Had Paul, probably, good reason for objecting to taking John and Mark with them? (See Acts xiii:13)

If a man shows lack of courage, or tact or faithfulness, in one position, does that disqualify him in any measure, from getting another, or from success when in another position?

If both Paul and Barnabas had been duplicates of the man Jesus, would there have been this quarrel between them, and how would the matter likely have been settled? (This question must be answered by members of the club)

When two Christians fall out, is one or both always to be blamed?

Verses 40-41.—Did the dispute between these two men work out for good, as it resulted in two missionary deputations instead of one?

By any process of reasoning can you conclude that God was back of this dispute, between these two godly men, so as to better work out his purposes?

Chap. xvi:1-3.—Should ministers, and other Coristians, be on the lookout for young men who are fitted for the ministry, the same as business men are for good salesmen?

What can you say for, or against Paul circumcising Timotheus, in view of the decision of the council at Jeruselem? (See Acts xv: 1-29.)

In matters of habit, or ceremony, or non-essentials, is it well for us to give way to the views of others, sinking our own preferences when we can accomplish good by so doing? For example, you may oppose wearing "pig-tails" in this country, with wisdom, and yet to refuse to wear one in China may be great folly.

Verses 4 5—What were the "decrees of the elders which were at Jerusalem," and are these binding upon the church today? (See Acts xv:28-29.

Is a church better with or without an elaborate creed?

What did Jesus teach which is not included in righteousness, and the constant vision of God?

Will a church sound "in the faith," always be a magnet to draw others to it.

Verses 6 8—Why did the Holy Spirit forbid them to preach in Asia and Bithynia, and would they have sinned had they done so?

When we are hindered providentially from doing certain good works, is that the Holy Spirit hindering us?

Verses 9-10—How many methods does God adopt in leading us?

Does God in every emergency give us some sure guidance as to what we ought to do?

Was this vision just as clear a call from God, as though he had spoken personally?

Verses 11-12—Does God direct the course of the Christian with absolute certainty, notwithstanding wind or sea?

Verse 13.—What is one of the first things an earnest Christian looks out for, when he moves into a new community?

Are women generally in the majority as earnest Christians?

Verse 14.—Are busy women generally more spiritual than those who have but little to do?

Should all girls be taught to earn their own living?

Is it easier for God to open the heart of an industrious person than that of an idler?

Verse 15.—If a person is inhospitable, or stingy, is that a sure sign of ungodliness?

Thousands of Gymnasts at Cincinnati Convention.

Cincinnati, June 24.—More than 2000 gymnasts and athletes, representing every section of the United States and several European countries, are assembled in this city today to take part in the thirteenth quadrennial meeting of the turnvereins, or German gymnastic societies of America.

The monster athletc field at Carthage in which the contests are to be held is the biggest in the United States. The stage measures 260 by 40 feet, and the grand stand alone seats 4000 persons. On the field are the tents in which many of the visiting gymnasts are housed during their stay in this city. The management has served notice on the men that the mill will be closed down, and all those on strike will have to make application for any desired position. Dr. Pierce's Health Talks

The miracle of motherhood is often overshadowed by the misery of motherhood. The great functional changes which are incident to child bearing leave their mark for life on many a mother. Some women offer up their lives as a sacrifice on the altar of motherhood. A far greater number live on in ceaseless misery. Their strength fails, their beauty fades, they have no ambition and no enjoyment in life. To every woman

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Offers escape from the pains and perils of motherhood. Taken during the period of waiting and anticipation this medicine strengthens the body, nourishes the nerves, and prepares the whole womanly system for the coming of baby. It also insures an abundant supply of nourishment for the child.

The mind feels bright and buoyant. There is no anxiety, no dread, but in its place a happy anticipation of the baby's coming, which counts for the future happiness of the child unborn. The use of "Favorite Prescription" makes the baby's advent easy, and gives abundant vitality to nursing mothers.

There is no alcohol or habit-forming drugs in "Favorite Prescription." It is a purely vegetable medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing "just as good" for weak and sickly women. All its ingredients printed on its bottle-wrapper.

The larger success of doctor or druggist is never won by putting love for the dollar above duty to the sick. Protecting the sick, giving them what they ask for when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is called for, will enrich him in respect, if it does not swell to the utmost his profits.

Heart Strength

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves — re-establish them as needed, with Polander, Thinking Children Would Be Kept From Him, Kills Himself.

Scranton, Pa., June 24.—Frank Marcheck, a Polander, went to the Home for Friendless to call on his three children, whom he placed there recently when their mother died. There is an epidemic of measles at the home, and the matron would not admit him. He could not be made to understand about the quarantine, and thought he was being permanently deprived of his little ones.

Turning away from the door of the home in a dejected mood, he started down the steps, stopped halfway and whipped out a revolver and shot himself through the head. He died instantly.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements, caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

In Sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a Stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the Heart or Kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the Stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the Heart or Kidneys That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause these failing organs. And it is easy to prove. A simple five or ten day test will surely tell. Try it once, and see! Sold by J. Zeller & Son.

TROLLEY STRIKE IN PITTSBURG

the Lines in the City Are Tied Up.

ONLY MAIL CARS RUNNING

At Many Churches Services Were Dispensed With Yesterday—Company Expected to Start Cars With Professional Strike-Breakers.

Pittsburg, June 28—Greater Pittsburg walked yesterday amidst intermittent thunder storms and a torrid sun. Only one street car, carrying the United States mail, has moved in the city or suburbs. Persons living in outer Allegheny county use the hastily provided shuttle trains of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Baltimore Ohio railroad.

The grievances of the men included the charge of discrimination against union men; a demand for proper hearings for discharged men; longer lunch hours and the installation of bulletin boards in the car barns announcing lay-offs.

Downtown Pittsburg was deserted for the entire day except at the headquarters of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes and the offices of the Pittsburg Railways company. At union headquarters the strikers congregated early. The men unitedly declared for a long and hard fought strike.

At the offices of the Pittsburg Railways company the executive officers consulted all day, planning their campaign to break the strike and to quickly settle the traction tie-up problem.

The entire day was marked with but one clash between union men and would-be strike-breakers. Two negroes applied to the superintendent at the Homewood car barns for situations and were set upon by alleged union sympathizers and chased from the district. The police were notified, but no arrests were made.

Conveyances were early placed at a premium by enterprising wagon and cab owners. The taxicabs of the city did a tremendous business and were allowed to exceed the speed limits in their efforts to handle the inter-resident district traffic.

At many of the churches services were dispensed with.

Wild rumors of strike-breakers arriving and being hidden in water front houses poured into the police stations during the day. Investigation of the rumors proved them to be without foundation. However, it is known that the Pittsburg Railways company have been negotiating with professional strike-breakers who will undoubtedly bring imported men here to run the street cars.

The Homestead steel mills are seriously crippled by the strike. Just enough men to keep the furnaces from cooling and to operate the various departments reported for work. Arrangements have been made by the mill officials to house the men in barracks during the strike.

BODY PERFECTLY PETRIFIED

Not a Feature Changed of Woman Buried Forty Years Ago.

Avonia, Va., June 28.—A remarkable case of the petrification of a human body has just come to light in Buckingham county. When Camm Patterson, one of the best known men of central Virginia, died about two months ago, his last request was that the body of his wife should be exhumed and buried beside him.

Several days ago the body of Mrs. Patterson, buried nearly forty years ago, was disinterred, and through the glass of the coffin it was discovered that the body had been petrified. Those who saw the body were astonished at the absolute lifelikeness of the face; not a feature had been changed.

Girl's Life Is Saved by Rat In Hair.

Milford, Del., June 28.—The life of Miss Pauline Abbott, eldest daughter of ex-Senator John Abbott, was saved when, after a fall downstairs, she struck on a large "rat" wron in the front of her hair. This doubtless saved her from a broken neck. She was stunned and in an unconscious condition when a physician reached her.

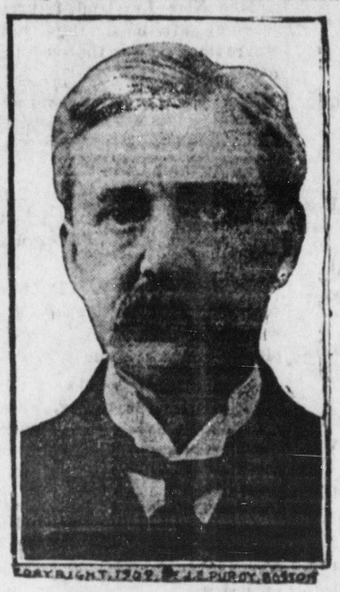
READY FOR TAX PROBLEMS

Senator Cummins Will [illegible] Against Corporation Tax.

Washington, June 28.—Today is expected to see the end of the consideration of tariff schedules in the senate, sitting as a committee of the whole.



SENATOR CUMMINS.

As soon as the schedules are disposed of the fight over the income tax and the corporation tax will begin. How long the contest over these questions will last is conjectural. The lowest estimates are a week or ten days.

Senator Root will lead on the floor in support of the corporation tax. Senator Cummins and Senator Borah will make vigorous speeches against the measure.

REBS AND YANKS AT "YAHOOS" REUNION

Men Who Fought One Another Meet to Talk Over Battles.

Burlington, N. J., June 28.—Forty six years ago the chief desire of the men of the Eighth Alabama regiment was the advancement of the Confederate cause without regard to the number of Yankees killed in the process. Today, way up in what was then the enemy's country, they desire only to shake hands with as many of the Yanks as they can reach.

The occasion is the reunion of the survivors of the famous "Yahoos" of the Civil War, who were known officially as the Twenty-third New Jersey infantry, with the man against whom they fought at Salem Church, Va., on May 3, 1863. Among the southerners who fought against the New Jersey men in that famous action were the men of the Eighth Alabama, commanded by Colonel Hilary A. Herbert.

The leader of the Yahoos was Colonel (afterward General) E. Burd Grubb. Today's reunion is taking place at the beautiful home of General Grubb, Grassmere, at Edgewater Park, near here. In addition to the "Yahoos" and the Eighth Alabama, the men of another New Jersey regiment, commanded later by General Grubb, the equally famous "Game Chickens," are present.

Heretofore the Grubb reunions have been held on May 3, the anniversary of the fight at Salem Church, but solicitude for the health of his old followers and the southern veterans caused General Grubb to postpone the meeting this year until now.

A novel feature of the reunion is the presence of members of the Daughters of the Confederacy as guests of Mrs. Grubb. These southern women are assisting Mrs. Grubb in receiving the northern and southern veterans and their wives and daughters.

Madison, Va., June 28.—The authorities of this city are endeavoring to unravel the mystery surrounding the death of Edna Lamont, aged eighteen years, a daughter of Clemmens Lamont, the owner of a large stock farm of this city, whose body was found in a woods near her home. Many friends of the young girl think she was poisoned, possibly by a jealous lover.

NEGRO FIREMEN WIN CONTEST

Arbitration Board Gives Them Same Wages as Whites.

ONE MEMBER DISSENTS

The Award Provides That There Shall Be No Discrimination on the Georgia Railroad Between Whites and Blacks — Dissenting Opinion Says Award Is a Menace to Travelers.

Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—The Georgia railroad strike arbitration board decided against the seniority of white firemen over colored men. The arbitrators, however, placed a premium on intelligence among firemen which, it is believed, will ultimately result in the gradual elimination of all except the most expert colored men.

The arbitration board was composed of Hilary Herbert, of Montgomery, representing the Georgia railroad; Congressman Thomas Hardwick, of Georgia, representing the firemen, and Chancellor David C. Burrow, of the Georgia university, as umpire.

Their decision was worded guardedly and did not in any case deal directly with the race problem. Their most direct reference in the senority problem was in the words: "We find against proposition C." This proposition read: "All firemen when hired shall be placed in freight yards or hostling service, and senior white firemen shall have preference of engines and runs."

The award makes the pay of colored firemen equal to that of whites. The colored men have been receiving about 20 to 50 cents per day less than whites.

Mr. Hardwick in a dissenting opinion from the proposition fixing colored men's wages the same as those of whites, said: "In so far as the above finding permits the continued employment of colored firemen, I dissent, because I believe from the evidence that such employment is a menace to the safety of the traveling public."

WILTBANK DEFICIT $15,000

Secret Service Agents Seek Fugitive Atlantic City Bank Clerk.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28.—Final examinations of the books of Eugene Wiltbank, the missing bookkeeper of the Second National bank, shows a shortage of more than $15,000, according to the bank officials. The fugitive bookkeeper is being sought by government secret service men by direction of the department of justice at Washington.

The government detectives believe that the young man has sailed for Europe. It has been established that Wiltbank left for New York June 12, the day of the discovery of the deficit. It is said that he had more than $1200 when he left this city.

MOTOR LAUNCH BLOWS UP

Negro Drowned and Six Men Severely Burned at Richmond, Va.

San Francisco, June 26.—It will be the Pacific slope against the Atlantic coast here this afternoon when Leach Cross, of New York, and "Fighting Dick" Hyland, of California, meet in their forty-five round bout.

The local sports expect to see a fight that will pull them out of their seats. The two lightweights have met before, and both are anxious for victory in today's scrap. The length of the fight makes it practically certain that it will decide the question as to which is the better man.

FORTY INJURED IN TROLLEY COLLISION

Rear End Crash Caused by Pole Slipping From Feed Wire.

Wilmington, Del., June 25.—Forty persons were injured, several seriously, as a result of a collision between two southbound trolley cars on the Wilmington and Chester line. All of the victims were from Chester, Pa. The accident occurred at Hillcrest, a suburb of Wilmington, and was due to the lights of the first trolley car being extinguished by the trolley pole slipping off the feed wire. The injured were brought to the Delaware and Homeopathic hospitals in trolley cars and ambulances. The worst injured are Daniel Leary, aged twenty-one. Chester, Pa., one leg broken, the other leg split open, may die; Lillie Algins, aged nineteen years, may lose both legs.

The motorman of the second car did not see the first car because of the lights being out, and he crashed into it with terrific force. The occasion was an excursion given by the Girls' Gymnasium club of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, of Chester, to Shellpot park, near here. There were three carloads of excursionists. Nearly all of the injured were on the second car. The two cars in the collision contained nearly 200 persons.

SAID GIRL GAVE HIM POISON

Young Man Roused From Stupor In Cumberland Gave Police Small Clue.

Cumberland, Md., June 25.—With the statement that "a girl" had given him strychnine, William Clark, aged twenty-three, unmarried, son of John Clark, of Narrows park, died at the Western Maryland hospital.

Young Clark was found in the park writhing in agony. At the hospital Dr. Thomas B. McDonald tried a stomach pump, and it was necessary to overpower Clark, who resisted vigorously. When aroused from his semi-stupor, Clark would repeat the story of "girl and strychnine."

Clark made no explanation about the "girl" who, he claimed, gave him the poison.

FORBIDDEN TEA PARTY.

What Happened at Function Given by a Rebellious Woman.

Tea was not brought over by the first settlers. When the pilgrims landed at Plymouth tea was selling in England at from $10 to $50 a pound. It was a luxury that had been known to Englishmen only a few years.

Early settlers got along without India or China tea for a long time. They used roots, herbs and leaves found in the fields and woods as a substitute for tea. Sassafras tea was a common drink.

Tea was advertised for sale in Boston in 1762 for the first time, according to historians. In 1766 patriots began to take the pledge not to drink tea because of the tax that the English government placed on it. It became fashionable for patriotic ladies not to serve India tea, but as substitutes therefor "Labrador tea" and "Liberty tea."

Captain Page of Danvers forbade his spouse to taste tea beneath his roof as long as the tax remained, but the strong minded and ingenious lady ascended to the flat roof of the house, invited her friends to follow, and there she served tea to them.

Some other ladies of the town fared less fortunately. They used to borrow for their tea parties the big teapot of the once famous Bell tavern. One day after drinking the forbidden beverage the master of the house unexpectedly walked in, jumped to the fire, grabbed the teapot and turned it over, and out rolled a big frog. The jovial patriots at the Bell tavern, suspecting the use of the pot, had placed the frog in it. Some of the dames never drank tea afterward, for it made them sick.

Isaac Wilson of Peabody persisted in selling tea, so the Sons of Liberty seized him and compelled him to walk about town penitently repeating:

I, Isaac Wilson, a Tory be.
I, Isaac Wilson, I sell tea.

The celebrated Boston tea party was followed by tea parties in other New England towns. In Salem soon after the Boston party David Mason was suspected of having had his negro servant smuggle two chests of tea into the home. Patriots entered and searched his house. They found the tea. They gave it to boys, who paraded with it to Salem common and there burned it.

Even after the Revolution the trade in tea was not wholly unrestricted. It appears that in some New England places dealers in tea were required to take out a license.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Annoying Mannerism.

If we could only learn to be quiet, absolutely quiet when we are supposed to be quiet, without motion or sound, faces quiet, hands quiet, feet quiet. If everything that we do could be done as noiselessly as possible without an unnecessary sound or movement. The movement to restrain noises should begin at home rather than abroad; better innumerable bells and whistles outside than slamming doors, creaking shoes or shrill voices inside. We need the training given by constant attendance in a sick-room. What a relief it would be to tired nerves if a general reformation of this kind took place. If we will learn to listen to ourselves as to others.

Pinesalve, carbolized, thoroughly healing and cleansing, antiseptic, soothes and stops pain. Sold by C. M. Parrish.

—Somebody visited the premises of William S. Brooks, west of Centre Hall, who had a sweet tooth needing about forty pounds of honey to satisfy it. That many pounds of honey was taken from various bee hives belonging to Mr. Brooks, and the thief did not leave a card, but there are grave suspicions. Because the little busy bees are sometimes called little robbers is no excuse for anyone to rob the hives and carry the sweets away at night.—Centre Reporter.

—Vance McCormick, editor and proprietor of the Harrisburg Patriot, and his mother have been guests at the Curtin residence on High street. They came to Centre county in a large touring car to attend the commencement exercises of State College, Mr. McCormick being a member of the board of trustees of that institution. An effort is being made to secure a band and it is likely that one will be on hand. Everybody is invited to attend and enjoy the National Holiday which this year will be observed Monday, July 5th. The fireworks will be the most elaborate ever set off in this section, and they alone will repay all who go to Colver on the evening of the celebration.

—Harris township has the best roads of any of the townships on the South side of Centre county. The supervisors have exercised good judgment in road building, and once a road has been given a top dressing of crushed lime stone, an effect is made to keep the road in trim, and not left go to wreck by total neglect. There is enough money spent in almost every township in the county to make the roads much better than they are, provided the expenditure of the money had been more wisely directed.

—The American Lime and Stone company are now experimenting with a patent plaster which they claim will have all other kinds of plaster outclassed by far. It is principally the discovery of their manager in this place, David J. Kelly, and is being manufactured at their plant here. A sample patch of it was put on the ceiling of the Brockerhoff house office Thursday morning to repair a place where the old plastering had fallen off. The patentess confidently believe they have a a good thing and if it is half as good as they claim there is no doubt but that they have.

—Since the Campbell brothers have come into possession of Penn cave, Centre county's big natural curiosity, they have gone to considerable trouble and expense in making the place more attractive to visitors, and how well they have succeeded is shown in the fact that on last Sunday they had close to seventy five visitors, some of whom were at the hotel for their meals, as well as took a trip through the cave. The cleaning out of the dry cave and making a separate entrance thereto is a great improvement as well as convenience as it affords visitors who are a little timid about going on water an opportunity of viewing the cave from dry land.

Assembling in the shady grove at Belmont Mansion Saturday afternoon, seventy-five residents of Philadelphia, who came from Centre county held the sixth annual basket picnic of the Centre County Association of Philadelphia.

Because of the weather conditions of the morning and early afternoon the attendance was smaller than in other years, but the decrease in numbers was not accompanied by a corresponding decrease in fun. Games were played, and as a finale "good old Centre county grub" was served by the women.

EXCITEMENT AT THE JAIL

Insane Man Attempted Suicide on S[illegible] day.

Quite an excitement was created [illegible] County jail Sunday when a me[illegible] gave his name as Andy Bowma[illegible] residence as Van Vorhis, W[illegible] county, Pa., attempted suicide[illegible] ing. Bowman made his appe[illegible] the jail sometime Sunday morning and asked Sheriff Hurley to lock him up, saying that he was being pursued by people who wanted to lynch him. Sheriff Hurley saw there was something wrong with the man and locked him up but giving him the freedom of the corridor. About an hour later he heard a commotion in the jail and going in found that Bowman had torn a sheet off one of the cots, tied it around his neck and tied it to the railing around the second floor of of cells and thrown himself over to the jail floor below. The rope was not securely tied and it broke with Bowman's weight throwing him to the floor. The only injury Bowman suffered was a severe shaking up. The Sheriff then locked him in a cell.

Wednesday morning he became so obstreperous that the Sheriff fearing Bowman might succeed in his attempt to end his life decided to handcuff him. When the Sheriff entered the cell Bowman put up a desperate fight and seizing a slat off the bed struck the Sheriff full in the face. The Sheriff after considerable trouble succeeded in getting the handcuffs on him.

Who his relations are or how he came to be in Bellefonte is unknown. The Sheriff is trying to get into communication with Washington County to find out who he is and what's to be done with him.

Pretty High Noon Wedding.

Miss Bess Krebs, the youngest and very highly accomplished daughter of ex-Judge D. L. Krebs, of Clearfield, and James K. Horton, Esq., of Philipsburg were united in marriage at high noon Tuesday at the bride's home.

Miss Scharlotte Smith, daughter of Judge Smith was maid of honor, and Mrs. A. M. Liveright, sister of the bride matron. The groom was attended by Dr. John Gordon. The ushers were Wallace and D. L. Krebs, jr., brothers of the bride.

The bride looked charming in a beautiful gown of pearl satin, handsomely embroidered and draped with rare lace worn by her mother at her wedding.

The home was beautifully decorated and the event was one of those characteristically nicely arranged home weddings of the month of June.

The groom is associated with W. D. Crosby Esq., at Philipsburg in the practice of law.

Washington New Wedding LicenceLaw.

Since the enforcement of the new criminal code in the state of Washington, effective June 11, which requires applicants for licenses to wed to bring with them certificates from physicians and recommendations from acquaintances attesting to their physical and moral fitness to marry, justices of the peace and ministers of the Gospel at Coeurd' Alene, Idaho, thirty-two miles east of Spokane, and Wallace, in the heart of the lead silver mining belt, in the panhandle of Idaho, are vying with each other to make their respective abodes the Gretna Green of modern times. Here is a sample of the attractive manner in which printer's ink is used in the advertising sections of city newspapers to welcome the prospective June bride and her lover:

"Be married in Wallace, where no penalties, premiums or restrictions confront cupid. Come to the Samuels' hotel where a bridal apartment is maintained. Judge J. L. Leighty, the marrying justice will tie your knots with speed and dexterity."

Twelve licenses were issued in Spokane the first day the new code was in operation, and it is believed that the total for the month will make a new record in that county.
